About Dreumex

Dreumex 70 years of experience, research and innovation

At Dreumex we believe hygiene and cleanliness are vital for all businesses and public spaces – now even more than ever. We are determined to contribute to our customers' health and help prevent the spread of diseases. That's why our company has been developing and manufacturing heavy-duty hand cleansing, industrial cleaning and disinfecting products for over 70 years.

When it comes to hygiene and cleaning solutions, we like to be the first to tread the path and see it as our duty to lead the way. Over the past decades, we have seen the world and the needs of our customers change. Personal and public hygiene have become major priorities in public spaces and the workplace. In our own R&D lab, we continuously invest in developing innovative hygiene solutions. We aim at meeting the needs of our customers even before they arise.

Nowadays, our cutting-edge products are used in companies around the world, in a wide variety of industries where health and cleanliness are of vital importance. We take pride in being able to say that our products enable countless professionals to do their jobs in a safe and responsible way. That's why we will never stop innovating.
